Cash has been stolen by the phony inspectors in some of the cases. In others, checks requested from the victims for supposed "services" have been raised to much higher amounts and then cashed.

PG&E noted that incidents involving bogus utility representatives have occurred recently in the valley area, including communities in Fresno, Madera, Stanislaus and Tulare Counties.

All PG&E employees carry credentials—billfold-type laminated identification cards which bear their names and photographs, the company stressed.

It said that anyone approached under suspicious circumstances by persons claiming to be PG&E employees should make an immediate report to the police department or sheriff's office and the company office serving the area.

Youth Fund Drive Is Extended

During the past six weeks the YOUNG PEOPLE of Seaside were fully pre-occupied with end of year school activities. As a result the majority could not actively participate in the drive to raise funds for David Cutino Park and the Youth Center.

In the interim the Seaside Youth Council is being formed and our youth have indicated that the Youth Fund Drive should be extended until October 31, 1973-Halloween-to enable our Youth to participate all summer in the drive. Our goal remains! Raise $100,000 through voluntary contributions for expansion of the Youth Center and to increase the facilities at David Cutino Park.

Therefore, the Seaside Youth Fund Drive is hereby extended until October 31, 1973.

IRS To Check Price Freeze Violations

Economic Stabilization Program personnel from the Internal Revenue Service will be performing spot checks throughout Northern California next week to verify compliance with the freeze price posting and record keeping requirements.

Charles E. Kingman, IRS District Director for Northern California, said that the price listing and posting policy becomes effective at 11:59 a.m., June 24, 1973.

Under the new policy each seller must maintain freeze price records for all commodities at the location where pricing decisions with respect to those items are ordinarily made. "The records must be made available upon request to Economic Stabilization Program representatives. Sellers are responsible for establishing freeze prices for each commodity and service." Kingman said.

In addition, all sellers must post in a prominent place at each place of business a sign, measuring a minimum of 22 inches by 28 inches, which should contain the following information, according to Cost of Living Council regulations.

"Information regarding the lawful freeze price for any item sold by this store may be obtained by filling in a Freeze Price Information Request Form available at (specify location) and by handing it to (fill in). You will receive a prompt answer by mail."

Sellers also must make available in at least one location at each place of business, freeze price information request forms with the following information:

Item
Price
Style No.
Department where sold
Name
Address

Sellers will be required to reply to each written request for freeze price information within 48 hours after receiving a letter.

All food retailers will be affected by these requirements.

In addition, each food retailer with a total sales volume greater than $25 million must also maintain freeze price lists for public inspection.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting the local IRS office.

Hello everybody. Do you enjoy photography as a hobby? Maybe you should consider it as a career. Over 65,000 people were employed as photographers last year and, according to government projections, thousands more will be needed each year through the 1970's. Photography involves much more than just taking clear pictures. Skilled portrait photographers, for example, take photographs which not only are attractive and natural looking but which also say something about the personality of the subject. Advertising, sports and news photography also require special skills.

Many professional photographers specialize in such areas as industrial, advertising or portrait photography. They may work for government agencies, private companies, or the staffs of publications or for themselves.

Photographic training is offered by many colleges and universities, trade, technical and correspondence schools, and in the Armed Forces. Some photographers are trained in three-year apprenticeship programs. One of the most respected professional photography courses is conducted by TODAY'S ARMY at Ft. Monmouth, N.J. There, in 13 weeks, soldiers learn the techniques required to take color and black and white photographs. They study news, portrait, flash, aerial, intelligence and miniature photography.

Six people have enlisted in TODAY'S ARMY thus far this month. They are: Sang C. Lee, 304 Carmel Ave. Marina. Sang enlisted for the Military Police option and chose Korea as his place to work; Emery Lee Russell, 1768 Mendocino St. Seaside, enlisted to be an Armor Crewman with a minimum guarantee of 16 months in Europe; James J. Rymut, 750 Elm Ave. Seaside. James enlisted for the Special Forces Enlistment Option; Steven F. Layton, 3223 Camino Del Monte, Carmel, enlisted for The Strategic Communications Command (STRATCOM) and will work as a Satellite Communications Technician after completing his 32 weeks course at Ft. Monmouth, N.J.; Allan L. Mayland, 2885 Ribera Rd., Carmel also enlisted for STRATCOM and choose the same course as Steven; Alvin A. Dewey, 1315 Turner Ave. Grand Rapids, MI, enlisted for the $2500 bonus and chose Ft. Riley, KS. as his station of choice.

For more information about TODAY'S ARMY opportunities and jobs, please contact us at 431-Webster St. Monterey, or call 372-4742 or 372-0553.

by Jim Barnes

Officer James E. Rasler

James Rasler was born in Tacoma, Washington and spent his younger years there. Being from a military family he traveled a great deal, attending school in Germany prior to coming to the Monterey Peninsula in 1956. Jim attended and graduated from Monterey High School, after which he enlisted in the U.S. Navy.

During his tour with the Navy, Jim worked as a Jet Mechanic with a Photo-Recon squadron. Receiving his discharge in 1964, and because of his exposure to the Monterey Peninsula during his high school days, Jim returned to the peninsula. Until 1972, Jim worked for several of the local tree services in the area.

Since Jim has always been interested in law enforcement, he joined the ranks of the Seaside Police in July, 1972. Since joining, he has started back to school, taking police science classes at Monterey Peninsula College. Jim fulfilled the state requirement by attending and graduating from the Central Coast Counties Police Academy located at Gavilan College in Gilroy, thus obtaining his Basic Certificate from the State of California Department of Justice Commission on Peace Officers Standards and Training. Since Jim has come to work for Seaside, he has been an active patrolman working in the city. He has been very active in the area of school talks in the lower grades.

John Perkins thanks you for your patronage in the past and looks forward to serving you in the future.

Your Mayor Reports

Name any of the existing major engineering works on which modern life in California depends, and ponder a frightening thought: Many of them could not be built today!

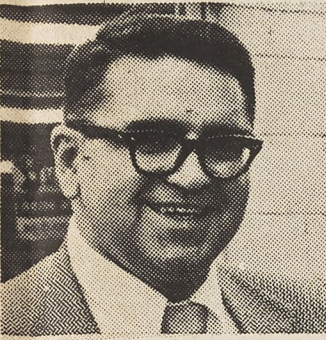

The environmentalists could tie up such projects indefinitely. Groups of protestors representing just a small fraction of our population would raise shrill voices, giving all manner of reasons why a given project would be bad for our community and humankind in general.

Let's face it, we wouldn't have the industrial society we live by. The motor age would have faltered long since with cars and trucks overwhelming the primitive roads and the horse and wagon age. Nuclear Power Plants to help solve our energy crises wouldn't have to be built because we could still rely on candles because of our dim mentalities.

Cities would have no freeways, no major bridges spanning rivers and industrial yards. The Golden Gate Bridge or Bay Bridge in San Francisco and all the great bridges throughout this state and along the coastal highways would still be just ferry crossings.

We need reasonable development if we are to exist. Seaside's Laguna Grande Project, which has been on the planning boards since 1965, is a prime example of a planned development that has encompassed both the necessary economic base vital to the City and the resulting improvement of the Laguna Grande Lake area for the enjoyment of the entire Monterey Peninsula. This project will greatly enhance Seaside and help to revitalize its economic and social posture. However, the environmentalists and Proposition 20 could easily kill this project.

Joe Dolan

What all this adds up to is that democratic process by which the majority decide on public works programs in California is being hamstrung. A tiny group of protestors, incited by any rabble rouser or zealot, can stop almost any public project. It is time everyone in positions of community or governmental leadership back off and look at this thing which has built up on us all.

Your Supervisor Reports

Roger Poyner

Last week I nominated and the Board of Supervisors approved the appointment of two outstanding Seaside citizens to the thirteen member County Welfare Commission. Charles L. Moore, who is better-known and loved by the community as "Father Charlie," has had much experience in helping others to help themselves. Father Charlie was associated with the St. Francis Xavier Church in Seaside.

Also appointed was Willie Robinson, Jr., who, though retired from the Army, pursues a full time career as business representative for the Laborer's Union, Local 297. Willie resides with his wife, June, and son, Keith, in Seaside. The Robinsons have made Seaside their home since 1958. Mr. Robinson will bring to the Commission his knowledge of the local employment picture.

Yesterday the Monterey County Board of Supervisors were presented with the tentative county budget for the next fiscal year (July 1, 1973 through June 30, 1974). I am pleased to announce that Mr. McCauley, the County Administrator, has included in this budget a recommendation to spend $500,000 of Federal Revenue Sharing funds to provide a building for the Welfare Department and Health Department activities in Seaside. The exact location for the building has not been decided upon. My personal preference is somewhere on Upper Broadway in Seaside. Several locations are being considered. Both the County of Monterey and the City of Seaside are working together on this project.

This Sunday I hope to see all of you at the Seaside Independence Day Parade. This is the "Silver Anniversary" of the Parade and promises to be a real winner. For an extra treat plan to attend the Drum and Bugle Corps field contest on Saturday evening at 6:30 p.m. at the MPC College Football Stadium. See you at the Parade!

If You're 60, You Could Be A Foster Grandparent

YOU CAN HELP - If you are at least 60 years of age, you can do as this woman did and become a foster grandparent to some needy youth. For more information call 375-0434. (See story for details)

Are you 60, and need a supplement to your income? There are opportunities for service as a foster grandparent. If you want to give service and wish to be creative, this is one of the best ways. You were creative in your business. You were creative when your children asked for advice and you were creative when you gave parties, attended meetings, played golf. There is no need for that creative faculty to stop or be stifled. It just needs new outlets.

You can be a foster grandparent. Create loving care for a child who has never had it. Be a substitute model parent and find a place for yourself in the love of a child.

You'll never be a millionaire. You can't be a foster grandparent if you have a million dollars. But if you're on a limited or fixed income and you are 60 or older, you can make an hourly wage. There is a 93-year-old retired teacher who avoids the pain of arthritis by jogging once a week with a ten-year-old boy.

You, too, can bridge the gap between generations by placing your hand on the shoulder of a child who has never known a familiar friend. Touch is the magic wand of creativity. Teach a child to tie a knot, how to say "thank you"; take a child to the dentist, tell a story, draw a picture, show a boy how to do fractions.

Juan, a 76-year-old foster grandparent, is teaching guitar to a group of difficult cooking class and a crafts session at Boys Ranch organized by foster grandparents.

Lack of creativity means boredom, heart attack, stroke, or arthritis. Don't give money to the doctor; give your love and understanding to a child. Ralph Waldo Emerson said: "A creative man is a living man." Be a foster grandparent and join the human race.

Here's a child whose parents are disturbed. Gloria was burned and was not expected to survive. But Mary Anne, aged 69, wanted Gloria to live. Gloria had to love someone to survive. So Mary Anne taught her how to love first a cat, then a person, then everyone. Gloria regained her desire to live. Four months later when Gloria went to a foster home, how do you think Mary Anne felt?

Are you ready to be a foster grandparent? You will be

A delinquent or handicapped child needs you. It is better than taking long walks or going to the movies just to sit next to someone. It is better than sitting in front of the T.V.

At Juvenile Hall Fritz was completely surprised when the staff and boys game him an 86th birthday party complete with cake, honoring him as the oldest foster grandparent in our program.

No special education or qualifications are needed. Come in and talk to the staff. We will be glad to tell you about the program. Foster grandparents must be 60 or over. They work only in institutions 4 hours a day with pay, plus a hot meal and mileage to and from the job.

Still Time To Sign Up For 'Little Miss' Contest

Dorothy Shreve, California State Director for the "Our Little Miss Children's Beauty and Talent Pageant" has announced that there is still time for little girls ages 3 thru 12 in this area to enter the competition as delegates at

Class Is Beginning

"How to fit a baby into an otherwise hectic-happy life" is the theme of the six week Expectant Parent's Class starting Wednesday evening, July 11, 1973, from 7-9p.m. at the Monterey Branch of the County Health Department, 1200 Agujito Road (at the Courthouse). Husbands and wives are urged to attend together but expecting Mom or Dad may attend without their partner.

large. Contestants enter in one of two divisions. "La Petite" competition is for 3 thru 6 year olds. "Our Little Miss" entrants are from 7 thru 12. The younger girls model sportswear and party dress. The seven thru twelve year olds also present a three minute demonstration of talent such as singing, dancing, music, or speech. For details, contact Dorothy Shreve at (213) 783-1128 or write to 13444 Ventura Blvd., Sherman Oaks, Calif. 91403.

At large and area winners will compete at the glamorous Riviera Hotel & County Club in Palm Springs from July 4-7 for prizes galore and for the opportunity to represent California in the national finals to be held in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, in August.

There are two good reasons why you should find out about the U.S. Coast Guard

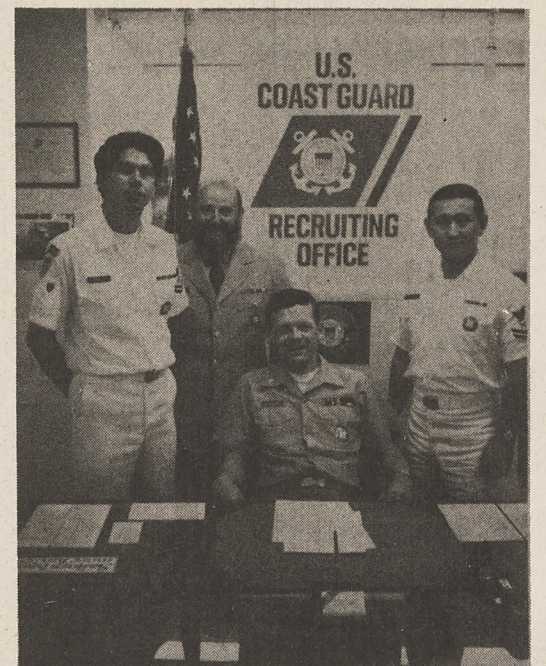

1 You can help others.

You can be part of a team that last year saved more than 3,000 lives. Helped clean up hundreds of oil spills. Took care of 44,000 aids to navigation. Collected oceanographic data for environmental research. Rescued hundreds of flood victims. And gave thousands of the nation's pleasure boaters free courses in boating safety.

2 You can help yourself.

You start out at $307.20 per month (which goes up to $342.30 right after basic training). Plus, you get food, clothing, housing and health care. Not to mention reduced air fare rates when you travel and shopping privileges at the exchanges where prices are usually 15 to 25 % lower than in civilian stores.

If you qualify, we'll guarantee you your choice of specialized training, in writing, before you enlist. And it's valuable training that you can take with you when you get out.

These Coast Guardsmen together have a total of 46 years of service - helping save lives, protecting our environment and learning valuable skills. They are your local Coast Guard representatives in Oakland. From l. to r. they are RM2 Andrew Rodriguez, Los Angeles, Ca.; YNC Neale Purseglove, Northampton, Mass.; QMCM Harry Schneider, Millville, N.J.; and YN2 James Kim, Berkeley, Ca.

Solving the energy problem will be expensive. For you as well as for us.

More costly fuel supplies, construction schedule delays, high interest rates, inflation and the increasing costs of protecting the environment all add up to higher utility rates.

At PG&E we're doing everything we can to provide you with reliable gas and electric service and to keep rates as low as possible. But rates are higher today and they'll continue to increase.

Here's a closer look at the reasons why:

Higher fuel costs.

Natural gas from Alaska and other distant points will be far more expensive.

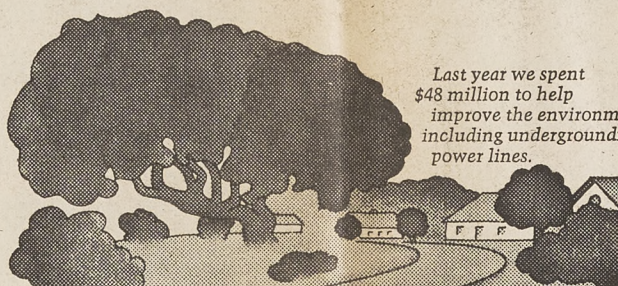

The search for new gas supplies, including exploration in Canada and the Alaskan north slope, is expensive. Such gas will cost more and bringing it from greater distances will add to its price. Alternatives such as synthetic gas, gas made from coal, and importing liquefied natural gas could cost even more.

Besides natural gas, only low-sulfur oil is acceptable as fuel in steam-electric power plants under present air pollution control standards. And we have to pay high premium prices for low-sulfur oil.

(When the costs of oil and natural gas go up, so must electric rates, because most of our steam-electric power plants are fueled by gas or oil.)

Construction schedule delays.

Regulatory procedures, involving 30 or more public agencies, are taking longer and longer. And new laws have established more complicated procedures for plant siting and construction. All these slow down construction schedules, and inflation alone is adding substantially to costs during these periods of delay.

Last year we spent $48 million to help improve the environment, including undergrounding power lines.

Environmental costs.

It costs more to put power lines underground, to build and landscape esthetically pleasing plants, to minimize stack emissions and to cool the water discharged from power plants. During the period 1973-76, PG&E's environmental expenditures will exceed $300 million.

Higher interest rates.

Interest rates have almost doubled during the last ten years.

4 1/2 % in 1965 to about 7 1/2 % today, which adds more millions to the cost of gas and electric service.

All these things, plus the inflationary pressures which affect every business, add up to higher costs for us and higher rates for our customers.

The era of plentiful energy at bargain rates is ending. Our job is to hold down costs wherever possible, without sacrificing the environment or the quality and reliability of your service. We're working hard to meet that challenge.

You can help—by not wasting gas and electricity and by understanding the reasons why your utility bill is going up. Like almost everything else.

Camp Quien Sabe Program Is Open To Peninsulans

Camp Quien Sabe, the Monterey Parks and Recreation Department summer camp program is open to people of the Monterey Bay area as well as central coast communities. The camp will be operating this summer with programs for children, teen-agers and families.

The teen-age program, Quien Sabe Work Experience Camp, is designed to combine a worthwhile work experience program with a good camping recreation program. The young person in this program will spend half a day working in Big Sur State Park doing needed maintenance work under the supervision of a recreation department counselor. For his/her services, the young person will be paid a small salary for the week, and will be given a job evaluation and recommendation that might be of value in acquiring later employment. All work details have been carefully thought out in terms of effort necessary and appropriateness for young people, by the camp directors and the superintendent of Big Sur State Park. The recreation half of the day will be devoted to camp activities including hiking, swimming, camp skills and campfire activities. The Work Experience Camp is for young people 13 to 15 years old.

The Quien Sabe camping program for younger children aged 7-1/2 to 13 years is an unusually successful, low-key quiet one; that provides a really fun week of camping for quiet children as well as the more active ones. The goal of this program is to teach and encourage children to live in a natural setting without altering or damaging that environment. The importance of living with nature not at odds with nature is stressed throughout the program.

Both the teen-age program and the program for younger campers run the same sessions in the same Big Sur location. Camp Quien Sabe is located at the Big Sur State Park organization camp. The campers, about 50 a week will be transported to and from camp by school bus. The camp is private and removed from the main Big Sur Park area. It is situated in a beautiful redwood forest bordered on one edge by the Big Sur River. The camp is equipped with modern kitchen and restroom facilities and has a private beach on the river for swimming.

All Quien Sabe programs have a fulltime experienced staff, many of whom have been associated with the camp for years. The camp is directed by Donald and Helen Reed. There are four five day sessions of Quien Sabe Camp and Quien Sabe Work Experience Camp, June 25, July 9 and July 16. The fee for each session will be $35 for Monterey residents and $40 for residents of other cities.

More information about the various Quien Sabe programs may be obtained by calling 372-8121, ext. 281. Reservations may be made at the Monterey Parks and Recreation office, 546 Dutra Street, Monterey (in back of Colton Hall).

Last Saturday, June 22, five beautiful young ladies and three handsome young men put on a fashion show for the Western State Golf Association at Neptune's Table on Fishermen's Wharf. The models wore many different outfits from JJ and Co., Foxy Lady, Climax, Juli, Long John, Maccho, and Don Loper.

The models were Brenda Williams, Janet Suian (Bay Area), Rose Hendrix, May Ortiz, Guren Williams (Bay Area), Enolyn Pryer, James Stevenson, Andrew Isakore, and Otis Stevenson (manager of Pic-A-Dilly World). Brenda Williams was the fashion show consultant, and commentator.
